

April's Charm

*The daffodils are blooming freely,
You'll find them everywhere;
And other buds are opening up'
As perfume fills the air.*

*Yet April is a happy month,
Birds fill the air with song;
Courting freely with their mates,
They sing the whole day long.*

*The daylight hours are longer,
And as you find the temperature rise;
The speed the grass is growing,
Could take you by surprise.*

*Yes! April is truly magical,
A special gift that's given free;
With love from our maker,
Every spring for you and me.*

By Eila Webster

