

July's Long Summer Days

*July brings the Summer,
Time for holidays and fun;
Strawberries are in season,
A real treat for everyone.*

*But what we lose in flavour,
We gain with more leisure time;
And things are a lot better,
Than in those days lang syne.*

*Growing in the garden,
And eaten on the spot,
Have a delicious flavour,
That bought ones haven't got.*

*So put on your glad rags,
And live life to the full;
It's time to renew your youth,
When the kids are out from school.*

*But in this modern way of life,
Things all depend on speed;
Grown in fancy containers,
Where you never see a weed.*

By Eila Webster