Seeing friends and family

Inside people's homes

Do not meet people from any other households in your home or another person's home socially, unless they are in your extended household.

An extended household is one where two households have joined together to form a single household. An extended household can be formed by a person who lives alone - or only with children under 18. They and another household of any size can agree to form an extended household. An extended household can also be formed by a couple who do not live together, and their children.

These rules apply to everyone, including children. Children whose parents do not live in the same household can move between homes.

These restrictions apply to social visits inside houses only.

You can go into someone's house to provide essential care and support such as childcare and delivering shopping to a vulnerable person. Tradespeople can also go into people's homes to carry out work and repairs.

Everyone should follow good hygiene, by washing hands regularly.

Outdoors

You can meet people outside, in your garden or a public space, in groups of up to 6 people from no more than 2 households (not counting under-12s).

Limit as far as possible the total number of households you meet in a day.

Stay 2 metres apart from anyone not in your household.

If you are meeting another household in their garden, you should only go into their home to:

- access the garden – do so quickly and without touching anything
- use the toilet – avoid touching surfaces as much as possible and clean hands thoroughly

Under-12s do not count towards the maximum number of households or people who can meet outdoors, and do not have to physically distance in gardens or public spaces, such as parks.

A maximum of six 12-17 year olds can meet outdoors, with no household limit. Physical distancing is still required.

These restrictions do not apply where there is other sector specific guidance in force, for example for gyms, childcare, organised sports, education, and places of worship.

Indoors in public spaces

A maximum of 6 people from 2 households can meet in public indoor spaces such as cafes, pubs and restaurants. Children under 12 from those 2 households are not counted towards the 6 people limit.

LANDWARD/ RURAL WATCH

As previous advised thefts of agricultural vehicles have been on the increase around Scotland and we would encourage those with such vehicles or equipment to be vigilant of those entering their curtilage. Rural Watch is a great tool for sharing information and advising others of thefts within particular areas.

Anyone with information regarding this to contact police, this can also be done anonymously via crime stoppers by contacting 0800 555 111.

Alerts are being placed on the Rural Watch platform which is now up and running in the local area.

We are reminding our rural communities to be vigilant and report all suspicious activity. Please also remember to secure buildings and consider improving security. We would also encourage you to sign up to the new Angus Rural Watch scheme at www.ruralwatchscotland.co.uk

Emerging issues:

There has been an increase in youth annoyance calls in many of our wards however particularly in Kirriemuir and Forfar. The Forfar Loch has had ongoing issues with youths for some time and diversionary measures which were previously arranged have met with some stumbling blocks due to the Coronavirus. SFRS have carried out patrols within areas of Kirriemuir identified as antisocial hotspots which has been great for the community and we are hoping to work together to target the areas further through a joint initiative.

Due to an increase in calls regarding vehicles causing unnecessary noise within the Myre Car Park, Forfar we shall be utilising our traffic colleagues and mobile CCTV van in effort to disperse those congregating and use anti-social behaviour legislation if applicable.

Several small fires have been started by youths in the Forfar area over the past few weeks, luckily no one was injured nor any property damaged however several youths have been charged with fire raising and a handful of others referred to SFRS to engage with their Firesetters programme.

Contact Details

Call 101 for non-emergencies and general enquiries, in an emergency call 999. If you have information about a crime you can also contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.
